

SFO&G

San Francisco Cottages and Gardens

COTTAGESGARDENS.COM | FEBRUARY/MARCH 2016

The Architecture of Happiness

STEVEN MILLER DESIGN STUDIO

LOUNGE

Steven Miller conceived a “space for people to relax outside of their rooms, do homework at a table, have conversations with neighbors on a comfy sofa or rock in a chair while looking out the window at the natural wildlife,” he says. Through the Witford showroom, Miller was able to bring in numerous Lee Jeffries elements, noting that Dianne Kirchner, J.D. Staron and Kravet pitched in too. Showrooms such as AMA Surfaces (Polyflor products) and De Sousa Hughes (Romo and Pollack fabrics) were also invaluable.

KELLY HOHLA INTERIORS

GUEST ROOM

In its four guest suites, KHI imprinted hallmarks of its designs: “There is color and movement on the walls but tailored and muted rugs to ground them,” explains Kelly Holha. The art was supplied by Dolby Chadwick Gallery; decorative painting was done by Willem Racké; and roman shades and pillows were fabricated and installed by Leong Interiors. J.F. Fitzgerald made the queen-sized trundle beds that KHI designed; Hohla and her team also devised the rugs, pillows and window treatments.

“We hope that coming back to the rooms feels like a getaway,” she says, “not just a place to sleep, but a place to truly escape, relax and restore.”

